

Head of Provision Welcome

Dear Applicant

Thank you for expressing an interest in the position of Learning & Skills English Tutor at Creative Inclusion Learning Studio in Sunderland.

Creative Inclusion is a popular, forward thinking, exciting and most importantly, happy provision where children and young people of all abilities, aptitudes, and social backgrounds achieve and thrive. This has given us a reputation for excellence within the locality of which we are very proud.

We passionately believe that all young people can achieve, that every one of them have special qualities, talents, and strengths and that it is the duty of true educators to nurture and develop these. It is this profound moral fibre which drives us, providing unwavering focus upon the continued improvement necessary for us to realise our ambition – to be an outstanding provision that offers the very best educational and therapeutic experiences for everyone in our care.

To succeed in our ambition, we work closely in partnership with parents and carers, Local Authorities, relevant agencies and local, regional and national businesses. We rely upon support from home and are delighted that many of our families make an unconditional commitment to trust their children and young people to our care, reinforcing our standards by supporting our service actions. It is this mutual trust which sits at the heart of Creative Inclusion and is one of our greatest strengths.
